

7.1.1 REFLECTION

After working with the “Roaring Twenties” for the last 8 days, reflect on the experience. I am looking for three paragraphs: 1) Describe the process of creating your Keynote/essay including anything you learned, how you researched, etc.; 2) Summarize the feedback you received on the 7.1.1 discussion page (click here and it should take you there) describing how others felt about your work; 3) Reflect upon your own work and describe steps you could take to make it better, even if your grade was 20/20. Export to PDF and upload to your wiki and link to your student page when finished.

The Scopes Monkey Trial was a long and grueling process that took a lot out of me but overall was a process I learned from. The research part of process was simple and went fluently where I started to run into problems was with the script. I found it challenging to tell the story of the trial within a four-five minute video. Apart from the script the shoot was looking good until it happened. There were originally supposed to be five actors in the video but of the five one showed up. Needless to say the project was not turning out well. The video was finished 2/7/10 with a total run time 38.4 seconds.

The feedback on my video little to none. The comment I got most was that the text in the video wasn't big enough for people to read because of the low quality that the video was exported in. Other comments read similar to good project but the text was hard to read. Most of the comments on my video were similar.

The overall project was subpar and I feel as if I could have done a much better job. The step I could have taken is to have a more focused and tight script. The major thing I should have done was secure a shooting date that didn't conflict with anyone's schedules. The final step in the process is to have taken more time with the editing and made the text was easy to read for the viewer. If I had taken more time to do these things this could have been an overall better project.
